

A “Selah” Moment

Psalms 3-4

Psalms 3-4

- Psalm 3:3-4, 8 - “But You, O LORD, are a shield for me, My glory and the One who lifts up my head. 4 I cried to the LORD with my voice, And He heard me from His holy hill. Selah 5 I lay down and slept; I awoke, for the LORD sustained me. 8 Salvation belongs to the LORD. Your blessing is upon Your people. Selah”
- Psalm 4:3-4 - “But know that the LORD has set apart for Himself him who is godly; The LORD will hear when I call to Him. 4 Be angry, and do not sin. Meditate within your heart on your bed, and be still. Selah”

What Does “Selah” Mean?

- Some believe it refers to an instrumental interlude
- Other possible meanings: “silence, pause, interruption, accentuate, exalt, end.”
- The Septuagint translates it as “diaqalma diapsalma - a pause in the Psalm.”
- The Aramaic translates it as “nymlel lealmin - forever.”
- The rest of the versions leave it un-translated or leave it out.

What Does “Selah” Mean?

- It comes from “hlo salah - to strew or spread out,” implying that the object should be spread out, meditated on, and attentively considered by the reader or hearer
- This meaning seems confirmed by Psalm 9:16
  - “The LORD is known by the judgment He executes; The wicked is snared in the work of his own hands. Meditation. Selah”
  - The word higgsaion is put before selah at the end of the verse. Higgsaion signifies meditation, or a fit subject for meditation, and shows selah to be a nota bene, attend to or mind this.
  - It is a note commanding a solemn pause. “Mark that,” or, “Stop there, and consider a little while.”

What Does “Selah” Mean?

- Recent Bible scholars have concluded that selah is a notation indicating that the reading of the Psalm is to be paused to allow the audience to respond or repeat the previous statement for purposes of emphasis and meditation. This is most likely the correct meaning.
- Selah - “This matter is important. Take a moment to think about it.”
- Whatever happened to Biblical meditation?
